

JOINT PROVIDER AGREEMENT FOR ACCREDITED CONTINUING EDUCATION

In support of improving patient care, AKH Inc., Advancing Knowledge in Healthcare (AKH) is jointly accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME), the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education (ACPE), and the American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC), to provide accredited continuing education for the healthcare team.

AKH can jointly provide educational activities with other organizations. The collaborating organization may not be an ineligible organization. The CE Accredited provider is referred to as the provider of the educational activity. The other organization(s) are referred to as the joint-provider(s) of the educational activity. In the event that two or more organizations are CE accredited or approved, one will act as the provider of the educational activity and the other(s) will act as the joint-provider(s).

A non-commercial sponsor is defined as an entity that provides support, either financial or in-kind, but does not fit the category of ineligible company. Examples would be hospital settings, pharmacies, government agencies or businesses, etc. An ineligible company is one whose primary business is producing, marketing, selling, re-selling, or distributing healthcare products used by or on patients.

What is an ineligible company? See this link

As a jointly accredited provider, AKH must be involved in planning, implementing, and evaluating the educational activity to include: developing objectives and content; selecting planners, presenters, faculty, authors and/or content reviewers; awarding CE hours; recordkeeping procedures; developing evaluation methods; and managing commercial support and/or sponsorship.

Accredited continuing education can be awarded to several professionals within the healthcare team or to a single type of professional. Credits may be applicable to: doctors, nurses, pharmacists, nurse practitioners, physician assistants, dentists, dietitians, psychologists, social workers, and optometrists.

Decision-making responsibility may be shared collaboratively between AKH and the jointly-providing organization(s), however final responsibility rests with AKH when awarding accredited CE. As the accredited CE provider, AKH is the final arbitrator on all matters regarding this CE activity and it is responsible to the Joint Accreditation for the management and operation of this activity in accordance with the Joint Accreditation Criteria.

AKH, acting as the provider of the educational activity, is responsible for obtaining a written Joint provider agreement signed by an authorized representative of the joint provider that includes the following:

- Name of Jointly Accredited provider acting as the provider - AKH
- The name(s) of the organization(s) acting as the joint-provider(s)
- Statement of responsibility of the provider, including the provider's responsibility for:
 - Determining educational objectives and content
 - Selecting planners, presenters, faculty, authors and/or content reviewers
 - Awarding of CE credits
 - Recordkeeping procedures
 - Evaluation methods
 - Management of commercial support and non-commercial sponsorship
- Name and signature of the individual legally authorized to enter into contracts on behalf of the provider
- Name and signature of the individual legally authorized to enter into contracts on behalf of the joint-provider(s)
- Date the agreement was signed

Process for collaborating with a Joint Provider
1.	Hold a discovery call with Joint Provider (JP) to determine if they are an eligible or in-eligible company and what the scope of the activity/course/conference is that they are thinking about.
2.	Discuss roles/responsibilities of JP and AKH so both are clear on expectations. Enter into a JP Agreement that delineates responsibilities and AKH fees.
3.	Work with JP to complete the planning form for activity/course which contains all pertinent information. Based on Needs Assessment, LOs and preliminary outline of activity/course/conference are discussed and determined with all final decisions made by AKH.
4.	Identify planning committee members from the JP and AKH. Send a link for all to complete the Disclosure form and have all potential COIs mitigated. Introduce Bernadette Makar MSN, RN NP-C, APRN, BC as AKH NP who will be planning activities with them.
5.	All planners work together to create content/slides to complement the outline identified. AKH NP reviews all content and identifies Pharmacology time for the content. Most communication is done via email/conference calls.
6.	If commercial support is obtained, an LOA is signed with supporters and kept in files. Full disclosure is provided via frontmatter so the learner can see it.
7.	AKH creates the frontmatter, evaluation form and certificate and provides the JP with a link to the eval/posttest/certificate to disseminate to all attendees with the frontmatter.
8.	If this is an enduring material, a post test is created for which the learner must obtain a 70% pass rate. The PT questions can be created by the faculty, JP pr AKH, but AKH has final decision on all content and post test questions.
9.	If other professionals are involved as members of the target audience, AKH or JP will include representatives on the planning committee, and all will have opportunity to change/modify connect if necessary.
